No confirmation has been received from any source that Leibknecht had been killed in street fighting Thursday. Government troops have recaptured Spandau. Court martial was ordered for Spartacan leaders according to advices here. The Vorwaerts building was heavily stormed by artillery.

FOUR GENERATIONS CELEBRATE TOGETHER

A birthday celebration in which four generations participated was held at the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Clair Davis on Guelich avenue yesterday. Mr. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Davis, widely known Penn township residents.

Those whose birthdays were celebrated were: Mrs. Catherine Hoover Davis, aged 79 years; Mrs. E. Clair Davis, 33; Everett, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Clair Davis, 12, and Baby Albert aged 1 year, a great granddaughter of Mrs. Davis.

Another feature of this joyous occasion was the passing of the 67th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Davis. The Davises have spent the entire fifty-seven years of their happy married life on their fine farm in Penn township near Grampian and enjoy the unbounded respect and esteem of a very large circle of friends and acquaintances throughout the county.

They are the parents of seven children, all of whom were present on this occasion. They are: W. E. Davis, Steward at the County Home; E. C. Davis, of Ramey; Mrs. E. B. Albert, of Woodland; N. T. Davis, of St. Marys; Mrs. R. P. Kester, of Newtown, Pa.; V. P. Davis, of Grampian, and E. Clair Davis of Clearfield. There are 25 grand children and 11 great grand children in the Davis connection.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis are the last remaining members of their respective families. The Davis and Hoover families from which they spring were prominently connected with the early development of Penn and Ferguson townships. Mr. Davis has passed the four score mark, but both old people enjoy the best of health and bid fair to round out many more years together and enjoy the evening of well spent lives surrounded by their large family of loved ones.

BIGLER TOWNSHIP LOSES TWO GOOD CITIZENS

Two of Bigler township's oldest and best known citizens passed away Saturday last. They were Joseph Higgins, who was one of the pioneers in the development of the resources of that section of Clearfield county and Hugh Stoddard, who conducted a lively stable and was a leading business man of Madera for many years.

Mr. Higgins had been in failing health for some time, but Mr. Stoddard's death was sudden and unexpected and was the result of a stroke of apoplexy. He had been constable of Bigler township for a number of years.

POLITICAL PROSPECT IS QUITE DRY IN IOWA

(By United Press)
DES MOINES, Jan. 13.—Iowa legislators went to work today with the convening of 38th general assembly. As usual the Republicans have an overwhelming majority in both branches of the Hawkeye legislature. The big fight on organization will be on the speakership, for which five aspirants are before the legislators.

One thing is certain regarding election of the presiding officer. He'll be a dry. The wets may make a fight, but the prohibs have enough votes to put in or defeat any man they choose. Ratification of the federal prohibition amendment is expected early in the session, as are several war relief measures, and a fight for a public utilities commission to take the place of several departments.

Chinese thieves are compelled to perambulate the neighboring villages with a board, bearing an account of their offense fastened round their necks.

COUNTY AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION NEEDED

Now that the $50,000,000 Good Roads bond issue succeeded in getting the sanction of Pennsylvania voters isn't it high time for the automobile owners and drivers of Clearfield county to get together and by forming the proper organization assist in directing the effort for more good roads—or some good roads—in Clearfield county.

Heretofore our Clearfield county people have been taking too much for granted and contenting themselves with waiting until the road money has all been spent elsewhere and then devoting their time to kicking about the roads in the county when it was too late to do any good.

Every live county in the state has a live association of automobile enthusiasts and the result is shown in the condition and general character of the roads throughout each of such counties.

Clearfield county has long been lacking in this regard and our roads denote the lack. Now that Governor Sprout promises some real reform in the road building department of the state it is up to the users of our roads to form an organization and thus be ready to assist in the direction of good roads work in the county and to insist that something be done for the county roads.

The time is ripe and as Clearfield is the county seat and the hub of the county it is up to our local automobile owners to get busy, call a county meeting and immediately form the proper organization.

Now is the time to act, don't neglect the opportunity.

VOLUNTEER SOLOIST AT ST. FRANCIS CHURCH

David Andrada, the comedian with "The Kiss Burglar" company assisted the choir with their vespers program at St. Francis church last evening. Mr. Andrada possesses a tenor voice of great range and quality and delighted the large congregation with his singing of the "Ave Maria" by Luzzi Luigi. The rendition was in Italian and demonstrated that Mr. Andrada is a soloist of much more than ordinary ability.

I saw it in The Progress.

OBITUARY

GWEN DALE GRAHAM

Mrs. Gwen D. Graham was born in Phillipsburg, Pa., on March 5th 1832 and died January 7th, 1919, on her own farm in Bradford township, where she lived with her unmarried daughter, Hetty.

The parents of Mrs. Graham, John Dale and Elizabeth Waring Dale were born in England and came to America with their parents and settled in Phillipsburg, where they were married. The Dale family consisted of five sons and five daughters, to wit: Clark, Edmund, John William, David, and George who died in infancy. Of these sons David Dale is the only survivor, residing on his farm near to Dale's church in Bradford township. The daughters were Mary, Ann, Mrs. John H. Stewart, Elizabeth and Mrs. Graham.

John W. Graham and Gwen H. Dale were married in 1852 by Rev. William Champion and moved onto the farm now occupied by James B. Graham near to the old village of Grahamton.

On March 15th 1865 John W. Graham was drowned in the high waters of Moravian Run, when going to look after some rafts at the river. The death of this splendid citizen left to the tender care of his widow, Gwen Graham, eight small children. Those who have known Mrs. Graham and her family all these years know how bravely she took up this burden and executed the trust. Of the eight children left to her care, now, after almost fifty-four years, four survive, to wit: Jane Ann, married to K. Turner, Elizabeth, married to Jerome Wilson, Hetty, who cared for her mother for many years, and James B. Graham living on the old homestead.

The death of Gwen Dale Graham at the age of almost 86 years, removes the last member but one of two pioneer families of Clearfield county. David Dale being the sole survivor. Each of these families, the Dales and the Gramhams consisted of five sons and five daughters, all except one growing to manhood and womanhood. No two families in Clearfield county have taken a more prominent part in the history and development of our county. Every last one of these families was a true American. They stood for the highest ideals in American manhood and womanhood and have left to their many descendants a heritage of which they may be proud. As citizens of our country these people stood for civic righteousness; so in religious matters they were stalwart Christians. Many if not all of them were either members or friends of the Methodist Episcopal church. They founded Dale's church, almost in sight of their homes, one of the oldest Methodist churches in the county, and here John Dale and his wife and Francis Graham and his wife and most of their children and their descendants lie buried. In this ancient cemetery on January 9th, 1919 was buried Gwen Dale Graham, one of the best mothers and most heroic women. Modest, God fearing and Christ-like she put aside the burdens of life and lay down to pleasant dreams! Peace to her ashes.

MADERA YOUNG LADY DESERVES CREDIT

It has been said that Clearfield county fell down in her campaign for the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps during the year 1918 but there is one district that did not fall down and that is the Madera district whose quota was placed at the large sum (for a town of 1000 people) of thirty-three thousand dollars. H. B. Swoope was district chairman and Miss Marie Brown, local chairman, and in this campaign as in every other that helped to win the war, Madera did her part and sold her full quota. The greatest credit for this success belongs to the local chairman, Miss Marie Brown who by her individual efforts sold most of this large quota and just as truly as our boys "over there" went over the top, she went over the top in her thrift and War Savings stamps campaign and did her part toward establishing world freedom and justice in a way that deserves the greatest credit and public mention. Those who bought, share the credit but it was she who led the way.

The smallest coin ever issued was the "mite." They were current in Asia Minor and called "beggars" money being chiefly used for alms-giving.

This is sort of an old home week at the Progress office. For the first time in many weeks all are back on the job after a session with the "flu" and other ailments of the season.

If some of our friends had realized the sterling worth of Teddy in 1912 as they do today there are several things that would be different. It takes seven years to bring some fellows to their senses.

Since Attorney General Gregory has decided to get out from under the weight and responsibility of reconstruction one wonders whether any of the present administration are going to have the nerve to see through to a finish their pet theories.

Clemenceau is to head the peace conference and as its head will exert no little influence. To say the least, the league of nations idea will come in for a strenuous debate. Since it is a theory, let there be full and sincere discussion before it is accepted. Clemenceau is an old man, skilled in statesmanship and the wiles of national and international politics. His judgment is worthy of full consideration.

HENRY ALLEN BECOMES GOVERNOR OF KANSAS

(By United Press)
TOPEKA, KAN., Jan. 12.—Henry Allen, Wichita editor, was inaugurated governor of Kansas, succeeding Arthur Capper today. Capper was elected to the U. S. senate in the last election.

Allen is recently home from France where he worked for the Red Cross. Instead of the usual dress affair, a genuine Western "meeting of the folks" was held at the Auditorium and everyone spoke the well known "Kansas language". Allen told about his experiences in France.

Gov. Allen is looked upon as likely candidate for senator two years hence.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

GAY GARDEN FLOWERS.

"I am called the gay feather and the blazing star," said the Hattis flower, "and all my blossom cousins are called the same."

"That may be perfectly true," commented the phlox which was very beautiful and pink, and before it had finished the Hattis flower had interrupted. "What do you mean by saying that what I have just said may be perfectly true? You know quite well it is perfectly true, don't you? You should know that. If you don't know it, you are very stupid."

"I'm sorry," said the pink phlox, "I really hadn't finished talking. If you had given me a chance to finish I am sure you would have heard me say something quite truthful."

"That is all very well for you to say now, because, of course, I have warned you."

"Now it would appear that you don't believe me," said the pink phlox.

"I didn't exactly mean that."

"There! Don't accuse others too hastily," said the pink phlox. "You may find that you often say things that you don't mean at all the way creatures take them to mean. You are just ready to have a quarrel and I won't quarrel with you. But I will tell you a thing or two."

"All right," said the Hattis flower, "I am sorry I was so impatient."

Now the pink phlox was a very happy, cheerful flower and this is what it said to the Hattis:

"There are many creatures," said the phlox, "who don't care at all how unhappy they may make others. They may say things because they are angry and because they think they are the only ones who are right, and they may enjoy saying unkind things."

"They neither think nor do they care that what they say may hurt others for a long, long time. Now I know, Hattis, that while you are full of spikes you're not really as dreadful as you started in to be today."

"You are very beautiful and you make me fuss about growing. Your beautiful, purple blossoms are lovely and they add a great deal to the beauty of a garden."

"To be sure it's a pity that your spikes are just where the blossoms are, for that is unlike the way most flowers grow that have spikes or bristles. But your lovely star-like blossoms are very pretty and gay and you make many people happy to look at you."

"But dear Hattis flower, don't start quarreling. It's a very bad habit. I understand you and so I won't quarrel with you. But still it makes me feel unhappy when you won't let me finish a speech I am making and interrupt to tell me I'm not speaking the truth."

"I'm sorry, pretty pink phlox," said the Hattis flower, "and I'm sure I'm thankful to you for your good advice. It's a bad habit for a flower to get into to try to quarrel with its neighbors."

"It's a bad habit for anyone or anything to get into," said the phlox. "I don't really think there is anything quite so mean as a creature or a person who will say things to make others unhappy and won't care in the least little bit whether they are made unhappy or not."

"Yes," said the Hattis flower, "you are right. And as I must have my spikes because I am born and bred with spikes for generations back, at least I can be gay and happy and cheerful, can't I?"

"We all can," said the pink phlox.

"Yes, that's so," said the white phlox.

"It's quite, quite true," agreed the purple phlox.

"There's nothing like being cheerful," said the marigold, and the red geraniums from their bed, said,

"It's fine to be gay and bright and cheerful."

"We think so too," said the poppies.

"And so do we," said the beautiful blue maid of the mist flowers.

"We try our best," said the striped grass.

"And we will try even harder than ever, from this day on," said the candy-tuft flowers.

So all the flowers did their best to look as gay and bright as possible and everyone who saw this garden said,

"What wonderful luck you have with your flowers!"

And the lady who loved the garden and who cared for it said, "I believe my flowers want to make everyone happy."

And the flowers nodded their heads, whispering, "That's right!"

An Hour a Day With Jesus

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—What! Could ye not watch with me one hour?—Matt. 26:40.

Never was the Master's rebuke to the disciples more pertinent than today. We are living at a rapid rate. Every one seems to be in a mad rush to get there, and multitudes of business men are consciously violating the speed laws of health and safety. It is becoming harder all the while to secure time for private or family worship, while meditation on the Word is, we fear, almost a lost art. Men and women too, are using up seven days' strength in six days' time, so that Sunday usually finds them completely exhausted.

Let me suggest as a remedy an hour a day with Jesus, emphasizing not so much the amount of time as the fact of a generous period set apart each day for fellowship with the living and written Word.

Our souls need it. How much they need it we shall never know until we adopt the habit. We need it both for our information and inspiration. We need to know God better that we may love him more. We need to know ourselves better that we may take and keep our proper attitude toward him. And when we know his will we need the constant and constraining influence of the Holy Spirit to incite us to do it.

A slumbering church needs it, for if it is ever awakened and set on fire for God it must be through the instrumentality of those who are already on fire, and whose earnest intercession gives God no rest until he establishes and makes Jerusalem a praise in the earth.

A perishing world needs it—for never will it realize that it is dead until it comes in contact with those who are alive in Christ Jesus. Formal preaching and feeble testimony will never disturb the sleep of the dead, but "the people that do know their God shall be strong, and shall do exploits." When people hear about the victorious life and see it in their midst they will realize their own need.

And Jesus craves it. We are not simply the servants of Jesus who go to him for orders, but he says, "I have called you friends," and "all things that I have heard of my Father, I have made known unto you." A business man may employ hundreds of women, and daily assign them their work and pay them their wages, but there is one woman whose relation to him is entirely different. He is not her employer but her husband. He did not select her for the work that she could do, but to be his wife and companion.

Even so the church is the bride of Christ, and far more than the service that we can render, he prizes our fellowship and love.

An hour a day with Jesus gives deep, abounding joy. "Did not our hearts burn within us as he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the Scriptures?"

It makes our testimony more effective. Some years ago I came in close touch with a group of young people. I soon saw that one of the number was far superior to all the rest in the weight of her testimony and in her knowledge of the Bible. Then I found the secret. She was giving an hour a day to the study of the Bible and prayer. Her life was beautiful and her influence unique, though her natural gifts were only ordinary.

That hour a day with Jesus seemed to cast a halo over all that she said and did.

It gives greater power in prayer. In Acts 4:31 we read that when the apostles had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together; and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost. "And with great power gave they witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus; and great grace was upon them all."

And so we come back to our starting point, and leave with you the question, "Could we not manage our households and carry on our business and accomplish more study, and make more money if we would spend an hour a day with Jesus and the Bible?"

A little talk with Jesus, how it smooths the rugged road.

How it seems to help me onward, when I feel heart-sick and lonely.

When my heart is crushed with sorrow, and my eyes with tears are dim, There is naught can give me comfort like a little talk with him.

I cannot live without him, nor would I if I could.

He is my daily portion, my medicine and food.

He's altogether lovely, none with him can compare.

GOOD THINGS IN SEASON.

PESTNUTS may be served in such a variety of dishes that those who are fortunate enough to have plenty may serve many dainty dishes. Boiled and served as an escalloped dish, they will nicely take the place of meat; as a cream soup, or nut loaf or in Nesselrode pudding they are the nut par excellence.

Chestnut Soup.—Cook two cupfuls of shelled and blanched chestnuts in chicken stock until tender. Press through a sieve and add a cupful of rich hot milk with the same of the broth, celery salt, salt, cayenne and nutmeg to season. Cook two table-spoonfuls of onion in three of chicken fat, add two of flour and stir into the soup. Cook five minutes, add a cupful of hot cream and serve at once. Milk may be used with a beaten egg in place of cream. Serve strained.

Nesselrode Pudding.—Make a custard of three cupfuls of milk, one and a half cupfuls of sugar, and the yolks of five eggs, strain, cool and add a pint of thin cream. Scum of a cupful of pineapple slum and one and a half cupfuls of prepared chestnuts, then freeze. To prepare the chestnuts, shell, cook, remove brown skin and force through a strainer. Line a two-quart mold with part of the mixture and to the remainder add half a cupful of candied fruit, cut in small bits, one-quarter of a cupful of sultana raisins and eight chestnuts broken in pieces and soaked several hours in maraschino slum. Fill the mold, cover, pack in salt and ice and let stand several hours to ripen. Serve unmolded on a platter garnished with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with maraschino slum.

Chestnut Pie.—Prepare a custard for a pie, fill the crust and sprinkle finely chopped chestnuts over the top before putting into the oven.

Chocolate Nut Pudding.—Mix a cupful of soft bread crumbs with two cupfuls of scalded milk, one cupful of chopped chestnuts, a half teaspoonful of salt, two egg yolks and three-fourths of a cupful of honey, one square of chocolate grated, then fold in the beaten whites of two eggs and bake in small mold 20 to 30 minutes.

Superman and submarines have both gone off the map.

What a beautiful luncheon they are having in Europe!

It is always safer to retreat with your face to the enemy.

There will be no more forging of the Made-in-Germany trade mark.

Eggs are 50 cents each in Russia—but life is cheaper than ever.

The ambition of many a woman now will be to marry an army cook.

One of the biggest surprises of the war is that Metz is pronounced "Metz."

Only the worthy persists. Flap-doodle goes, but flapjacks go on forever.

The iron cross is now valued neither for beauty nor for sentimental associations.

Lots of men fall from, having an overstock of headbone and not enough backbone.

European fashions are more freakish than ever. Cans are being substituted for crowns.

If you do not enjoy chilly days, remember that the "flu" germs also do not like them.

Reports that Lenin is again out of danger must be exaggerated. He is still in Russia.

When Europe is finally reassembled let us hope that all the parts will be in the right place.

The way to get Johnnie's goat is to give him a Christmas present stamped "Made in Germany."

Naturally the patron regards the user of an "egg splitter" as a pretty ingenious egg beater.

HELPS AGNEW'S WIFE IN TRYING PERIOD

Charles Agnew, 5442 Ella street, Philadelphia, in describing the improvement in his wife's condition says: "She suffered from nervous indigestion a rundown system with twinges of rheumatism in her joints. She was not very ill at any time but just had the nagging gastritis and jumpier nerves. She bought Tanlac because a friend and her daughter recommended it. By use of Tanlac she is doing better than for a long time. Tanlac has helped her through a trying period."

The genuine Tanlac which bears the name J. I. Gore Co., on outside carton, is now sold here by Stewart Drug Co., Woodward & McPherson and other leading druggists. Tanlac, the celebrated vegetable tonic, stomachic and health builder, is also sold in neighboring cities and towns. Ask for it.

URGENT NEED FOR TEACHERS

Shortage Caused by the War Has Reached Proportions That Are Causing Alarm.

One of the most acute shortages caused by the war is that relating to the pedagogical fraternity. Fifty thousand teachers' places are vacant, and 120,000 persons are teaching this year who have never before taught a class. Several thousand schools have actually closed or have remained unopened because it was impossible for the local trustees to find teachers for them.

The lowered standards in many places and the total lack of instruction in others mean a loss to the children of the nation, which cannot be replaced. The shortage of teachers affects nearly every state in the Union. Many urgent requests have been made for the assistance of the United States bureau of education, for it is clearly impossible for some of the states to man their schools with the teachers available in their own borders. Practical and effective response is promised by the bureau.

By direction of the president and Secretary Lane, the commissioner of education has organized a new division in his office to assist local officers in finding teachers to meet this emergency. An appeal has been issued to all who are qualified and able to teach, urging them to signify their willingness to do so by registering with the new school board service division of the bureau of education in Washington. Registrants will be put in touch with schools which are seeking teachers, with the expectation of employment in the regular way. No charge whatever will be made either to the registrants or to the schools for the service.

CHILDREN OF WORKERS GO TO BETTER SCHOOLS.

The increase of workmen's wages is testing the accommodation of the better-class schools throughout the British Isles. People who were unable to pay additional fees for their children's education are now sending them to private kindergartens and higher-grade institutions.

In London the secondary schools are full. In Liverpool the number of enrollments of new pupils in one group of secondary schools has increased more than 20 per cent. In Lancashire generally there is a steady transfer of pupils from the elementary to the secondary schools.

British Demobilization.

The British system of government free employment offices, which, like the United States employment service, has been greatly developed and expanded during the war, as the national industrial mobilization machinery will be the chief instrument through which the British government will demobilize its military forces and the great army of civilian war workers when the war is over.

The government has just created a civil department of demobilization and resettlement under a controller general, who is responsible to the minister of labor. Sir Stephenson Kent is the controller general. The department will have in charge the replacement program, using the staff and machinery of the employment department of the labor ministry, which includes the administration of the employment exchanges and unemployment insurance.

So vast is the work of the British Graves Registration Commission, which locates and marks the last resting-place of the British soldiers who fell in France, that in an average week the commission staff has had to deal with five thousand letters of inquiry and thanks; and at times the number has been little short of ten thousand.

URGENT NEED FOR TEACHERS

Shortage Caused by the War Has Reached Proportions That Are Causing Alarm.

One of the most acute shortages caused by the war is that relating to the pedagogical fraternity. Fifty thousand teachers' places are vacant, and 120,000 persons are teaching this year who have never before taught a class. Several thousand schools have actually closed or have remained unopened because it was impossible for the local trustees to find teachers for them.

The lowered standards in many places and the total lack of instruction in others mean a loss to the children of the nation, which cannot be replaced. The shortage of teachers affects nearly every state in the Union. Many urgent requests have been made for the assistance of the United States bureau of education, for it is clearly impossible for some of the states to man their schools with the teachers available in their own borders. Practical and effective response is promised by the bureau.

By direction of the president and Secretary Lane, the commissioner of education has organized a new division in his office to assist local officers in finding teachers to meet this emergency. An appeal has been issued to all who are qualified and able to teach, urging them to signify their willingness to do so by registering with the new school board service division of the bureau of education in Washington. Registrants will be put in touch with schools which are seeking teachers, with the expectation of employment in the regular way. No charge whatever will be made either to the registrants or to the schools for the service.

CHILDREN OF WORKERS GO TO BETTER SCHOOLS.

The increase of workmen's wages is testing the accommodation of the better-class schools throughout the British Isles. People who were unable to pay additional fees for their children's education are now sending them to private kindergartens and higher-grade institutions.

In London the secondary schools are full. In Liverpool the number of enrolments of new pupils in one group of secondary schools has increased more than 20 per cent. In Lancashire generally there is a steady transfer of pupils from the elementary to the secondary schools.

British Demobilization.

The British system of government free employment offices, which, like the United States employment service, has been greatly developed and expanded during the war, as the national industrial mobilization machinery will be the chief instrument through which the British government will demobilize its military forces and the great army of civilian war workers when the war is over.

The government has just created a civil department of demobilization and resettlement under a controller general, who is responsible to the minister of labor. Sir Stephenson Kent is the controller general. The department will have in charge the replacement program, using the staff and machinery of the employment department of the labor ministry, which includes the administration of the employment exchanges and unemployment insurance.

So vast is the work of the British Graves Registration Commission, which locates and marks the last resting-place of the British soldiers who fell in France, that in an average week the commission staff has had to deal with five thousand letters of inquiry and thanks; and at times the number has been little short of ten thousand.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Charles Sweeney, one of the office force at Bickford works who has been confined to his home by illness, expects to be out in a few days and resume his duties as draughtsman at the yard.

Mrs. William Hipps left on Friday for Johnstown where she will visit for several weeks with her daughter.

Harvey Hauck who recently sold his pool room to Fred McKenzie has rented a room in the Owens block, State street, and has put in a complete bowling outfit, where the young fellow can now take exercise and raise their muscles to the boxing point. Teams will be organized and contests for large scores will be on nightly. Mr. Kelly will also contact his bowling alley in connection with his pool room.

The funeral of young Tennon was held from his late home at Bridgeport on Saturday. This home is a badly afflicted one. The aged mother is lying at almost death's door with pneumonia and both Charles Tennon and his wife are down and dangerously ill with influenza and indications of pneumonia. A state nurse has been secured and will be on duty today. Truly this family has been one that has been sorely afflicted within the past two years. Kind neighbors are doing all within their power to assist them and it is to be hoped that all now ill will recover from their sickness.

Mrs. Charles Caldwell is lying at her home in Pike township and within a few miles of this borough, very ill. Her sickness in the beginning was influenza but finally terminated in a serious case of pneumonia. Her physician has small hope of her recovery, unless some radical change takes place which will turn the tide for the betterment of her condition.

The report that another case of diphtheria had made its appearance in this borough seems to be erroneous and as the health officer, Mr. Weaver has posted no card on the house, leads one to believe that there is no case of that disease in that home. The young man who had the disease and reported in the Curwensville letter several days ago, is able to be about and mingle with his companions once again.

Mrs. Ernest Veal, residing on the Grampian road who has had a serious illness with the influenza, we are pleased to state is getting along nicely and will soon be able to be about once again.

Mrs. Frank Weaver who has been quite seriously ill for more than a week, with a general nervous breakdown, is reported by her physician as gaining in health rapidly and will soon be able to assume the government of her household affairs within the next few days. Her illness came about from trying to assist others in their struggle through illness and influenza affliction.

or in other words a check put on the disease spreading any further. "Prayers of Christian people are mighty" and that may be one reason for the elimination of the disease that has struck so religiously and long in this community. This does not mean that the disease has been wiped out entirely, for according to medical decision, we can expect the disease to remain with us, more or less, all thru the winter months, and that every now and then they will be called upon to give medical assistance for cases of influenza and pneumonia. We are living in the hope, however, that from now on there will be few cases to record.

Frank Thompson, "shoemaker doc", who has been fighting a most obstinate and dangerous case of the influenza for three weeks past, unless some unforeseen complications set in, will be able to be about and among his friends again within the next ten days.

Harry Robinson has taken over the entire management of the Prosperity store in the Graff block. He will be assisted in his work by his daughter, who was formerly with the A. & P. store.

At a meeting of the teen-age department of the M. E. Sunday school the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

President, Russell Brown
Vice President, Dorothy Edmiston
Secretary, Mable Norris
Asst. Secretary, Julia Powell
Treasurer, Roberta McDonald
Asst. Treas., Alice Moose.

At a recent meeting the following officers were installed for Curwensville lodge No. 486, Knights of Pythias, to serve for a six months term. Chancellor Commander, Rush Decker.

V. C. Samuel Martin
M. of A. George Bressler
M. of W. Paul Brown
Prelate, Harry Shirk
I. G. Albie Hummel
O. G. James Wingert.

District Deputy Brown, of Clearfield, did the work, assisted by members of 486. During the last year this lodge lost three members by death. A large number of the membership were ill during the epidemic and were well taken care of and assisted in every way to make them comfortable.

Announcement was made here Saturday evening of the death of Paul J. Elder, a son of Mrs. Alice Elder, which occurred at Renovo, Saturday afternoon, influenza and pneumonia being the direct cause of demise. He was aged about 28 years, and is survived by his widow and one child, together with his mother, three sisters and two brothers. His remains will be brought to Curwensville this evening and the funeral will be held from the Elder home on Tuesday afternoon. Prior to his death he was employed at the car shops in Renovo. He was a resident of Curwensville prior to his removing to Renovo.

Mrs. David R. Fleming died at her home on Saturday after an illness covering a period of several years. The family has resided in this town a good many years, the husband, D. R. Fleming conducting a cigar factory here. The family came here from Huntingdon county. She is survived by her husband and one son. Obituary and funeral notice later.

Yesterday was one of those beautiful wintry days that brought out whole families for a walk and good fresh air, although the slippery condition of the sidewalks made one very careful how one stepped.

The funeral of Mrs. Holt was held from the home of her mother, Mrs. Allen Bloom, on Chestnut ridge yesterday afternoon and was quite well attended by relatives and friends of the deceased.

Colonel Ganoe, accompanied by his wife and children, arrived in town Thursday evening and are quartered in the home of Mrs. Ganoe's father, C. S. Russell, on North State street. They expect to remain for about ten days and then return to West Point.

At a meeting of the Curwensville Business Men's association held one evening last week the following officers were elected for the annual term:

President, J. L. Curtis
Vice-president, W. G. Lape
Secretary and Treasurer, John B. Brown
Board of Directors, George L. Wilkinson, A. Z. Wolf, J. T. Fox, C. S. Russell, A. McNaul.

It was decided to make the annual dues $1.00 per year, payable in January and July. Addresses were made by several of the members which took the rough edge off and made every one present feel good and more determined to follow out the rules of the association more closely and work together in harmony, so that there might be no friction among the members during the year 1919.

At a regular meeting Saturday evening of Bethesda lodge No. 831 a class of three initiates had the third degree conferred on them, making them full members and giving them all the rights and privileges of the lodge. The occasion was enhanced by several short, snappy addresses by the elder members.

The following election of officers of Rescue Hose and Ladder company held last Monday was handed to us for publication the fore part of the week, but was mislaid, hence the lateness of publication:

President, Verne Bloom
Vice-president, J. W. Murphy
Secretary, J. C. Gatus
Asst. secretary, Peter O'Laughlin
Treasurer, W. A. Hipps
Chief G. L. Benner
Chief and foreman, G. L. Benner
First Asst, H. J. Kettleberger
Second Asst, W. A. Hipps.
Trustees, Earl McFadden, C. M. Smith and H. J. Kettleberger

Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Norris now occupy their new home on Thompson street, having moved and taken formal possession on Thursday.

Notices have been published that farmers in this section who will want to use nitrate on their land this spring as a fertilizer can procure the same by applying to Anthony Hile at the Curwensville bank, who is authorized to act as agent and supply their wants along this line.

The Herald gives out the information that the reason that borough council did not hold its usual monthly meeting last Monday evening was because two members of that body were ill. Messrs. J. P. Ryan, president of that body and J. M. McKinley. By the time for the next meeting rolls around it is to be hoped that every member of that body will be able to be on hand.

Owing to so much illness in the town which interfered in the regular Christmas Red Cross roll call, Mrs. Karstetter states that those who have not yet enrolled may do so up until the end of January and become members of the Christmas roll call.

A. G. Bonsall who operates a studio here, but lives at Grampian, notified us yesterday that he and his entire family are down with the influenza, hence his gallery here would be closed until such a time that he was able to come down and resume business.

Mrs. Edna Holt wife of Edgar Holt, died at the home of her mother Mrs. Mary Bloom, on the Chestnut Ridge road last Thursday, after an illness covering a period of several years. Mrs. Holt was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bloom and was twice married, leaving three children by her first husband and two by the second. She came here from her home in St. Louis about a year ago and resided a part of that time with Mrs. Z. L. Hartshorn, her mother in law.

Earnest Beers, a soldier who was training in a camp near Chicago, died one week ago today. His body was brought to his home and buried in the cemetery at Grampian. He was aged 24 years, 7 months and six days. The cause of his demise we did not learn.

Angelo Tennon died at the home of his brother in Bridgeport on Thursday morning aged about 20 years. The cause of his death was influenza. He was unmarried.

Ernest Wise, a soldier of Camp Lee, is home on furlough visiting his wife and parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Al McNaul left this week for St. Louis where they will spend several weeks.

Rev. George W. Leidy, who at one time was pastor of the Methodist church here for several years, died in Williamport on Wednesday, aged 78 years. Many Curwensville people will recall him when they read this.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substance for calomel, there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "pimp" from taking a bad breath, a dull, heavy, no good feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimples.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

And remember this is a store-wide clearance. Every stock in the store contributes its quota of under-priced items.

SPARTACANS ADMIT THEY HAVE MET THEIR DEFEAT

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 13.—The Spartacans are reported today to have admitted defeat.

No confirmation has been received from any source that Leibknecht had been killed in street fighting Thursday. Government troops have recaptured Spandau. Court martial was ordered for Spartacan leaders according to advices here. The Vorwaerts building was heavily stormed by artillery.

FOUR GENERATIONS CELEBRATE TOGETHER

A birthday celebration in which four generations participated was held at the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Clair Davis on Guelich avenue yesterday. Mr. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Davis, widely known Penn township residents.

Those whose birthdays were celebrated were: Mrs. Catherine Hoover Davis, aged 79 years; Mrs. E. Clair Davis, 33; Everett, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Clair Davis, 12, and Baby Albert aged 1 year, a great granddaughter of Mrs. Davis.

Another feature of this joyous occasion was the passing of the 67th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Davis. The Davises have spent the entire fifty-seven years of their happy married life on their fine farm in Penn township near Grampian and enjoy the unbounded respect and esteem of a very large circle of friends and acquaintances throughout the county.

They are the parents of seven children, all of whom were present on this occasion. They are: W. E. Davis, Steward at the County Home; E. C. Davis, of Ramey; Mrs. E. B. Albert, of Woodland; N. T. Davis, of St. Marys; Mrs. R. P. Kester, of Newtown, Pa.; V. P. Davis, of Grampian, and E. Clair Davis of Clearfield. There are 25 grand children and 11 great grand children in the Davis connection.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis are the last remaining members of their respective families. The Davis and Hoover families from which they spring were prominently connected with the early development of Penn and Ferguson townships. Mr. Davis has passed the four score mark, but both old people enjoy the best of health and bid fair to round out many more years together and enjoy the evening of well spent lives surrounded by their large family of loved ones.

BIGLER TOWNSHIP LOSES TWO GOOD CITIZENS

Two of Bigler township's oldest and best known citizens passed away Saturday last. They were Joseph Higgins, who was one of the pioneers in the development of the resources of that section of Clearfield county and Hugh Stoddard, who conducted a lively stable and was a leading business man of Madera for many years.

Mr. Higgins had been in failing health for some time, but Mr. Stoddard's death was sudden and unexpected and was the result of a stroke of apoplexy. He had been constable of Bigler township for a number of years.

POLITICAL PROSPECT IS QUITE DRY IN IOWA

(By United Press)
DES MOINES, Jan. 13.—Iowa legislators went to work today with the convening of 38th general assembly.

As usual the Republicans have an overwhelming majority in both branches of the Hawkeye legislature. The big fight on organization will be on the speakership, for which five aspirants are before the legislators.

One thing is certain regarding election of the presiding officer. He'll be a dry. The wets may make a fight, but the prohibs have enough votes to put in or defeat any man they choose.

Ratification of the federal prohibition amendment is expected early in the session, as are several war relief measures, and a fight for a public utilities commission to take the place of several departments.

Chinese thieves are compelled to perambulate the neighboring villages with a board, bearing an account of their offense fastened round their necks.

COUNTY AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION NEEDED

Now that the $50,000,000 Good Roads bond issue succeeded in getting the sanction of Pennsylvania voters isn't it high time for the automobile owners and drivers of Clearfield county to get together and by forming the proper organization assist in directing the effort for more good roads—or some good roads—in Clearfield county.

Heretofore our Clearfield county people have been taking too much for granted and contenting themselves with waiting until the road money has all been spent elsewhere and then devoting their time to kicking about the roads in the county when it was too late to do any good.

Every live county in the state has a live association of automobile enthusiasts and the result is shown in the condition and general character of the roads throughout each of such counties.

Clearfield county has long been lacking in this regard and our roads denote the lack. Now that Governor Sprout promises some real reform in the road building department of the state it is up to the users of our roads to form an organization and thus be ready to assist in the direction of good roads work in the county and to insist that something be done for the county roads.

The time is ripe and as Clearfield is the county seat and the hub of the county it is up to our local automobile owners to get busy, call a county meeting and immediately form the proper organization.

Now is the time to act, don't neglect the opportunity.

VOLUNTEER SOLOIST AT ST. FRANCIS CHURCH

David Andrada, this comedian with "The Kiss Burglar" company assisted the choir with their vespers program at St. Francis church last evening. Mr. Andrada possesses a tenor voice of great range and quality and delighted the large congregation with his singing of the "Ave Maria" by Luzzi Luigi. The rendition was in Italian and demonstrated that Mr. Andrada is a soloist of much more than ordinary ability.

I saw it in The Progress.

OBITUARY

GWEN DALE GRAHAM

Mrs. Gwen D. Graham was born in Phillipsburg, Pa., on March 5th 1832 and died January 7th, 1919, on her own farm in Bradford township, where she lived with her unmarried daughter, Hetty.

The parents of Mrs. Graham, John Dale and Elizabeth Waring Dale were born in England and came to America with their parents and settled in Phillipsburg, where they were married. The Dale family consisted of five sons and five daughters, to wit: Clark, Edmund, John William, David, and George who died in infancy. Of these sons David Dale is the only survivor, residing on his farm near to Dale's church in Bradford township. The daughters were Mary, Ann, Mrs. John H. Stewart, Elizabeth and Mrs. Graham.

John W. Graham and Gwen H. Dale were married in 1852 by Rev. William Champion and moved onto the farm now occupied by James B. Graham near to the old village of Grahamton.

On March 15th 1865 John W. Graham was drowned in the high waters of Moravian Run, when going to look after some rafts at the river. The death of this splendid citizen left to the tender care of his widow, Gwen Graham, eight small children. Those who have known Mrs. Graham and her family all these years know how bravely she took up this burden and executed the trust. Of the eight children left to her care, now, after almost fifty-four years, four survive, to wit: Jane Ann, married to K. Turner, Elizabeth, married to Jerome Wilson, Hetty, who cared for her mother for many years, and James B. Graham living on the old homestead.

The death of Gwen Dale Graham at the age of almost 86 years, removes the last member but one of two pioneer families of Clearfield county. David Dale being the sole survivor. Each of these families, the Dales and the Gramhams consisted of five sons and five daughters, all except one growing to manhood and womanhood. No two families in Clearfield county have taken a more prominent part in the history and development of our county. Every last one of these families was a true American. They stood for the highest ideals in American manhood and womanhood and have left to their many descendants a heritage of which they may be proud. As citizens of our country these people stood for civic righteousness; so in religious matters they were stalwart Christians. Many if not all of them were either members or friends of the Methodist Episcopal church. They founded Dale's church, almost in sight of their homes, one of the oldest Methodist churches in the county, and here John Dale and his wife and Francis Graham and his wife and most of their children and their descendants lie buried. In this ancient cemetery on January 9th, 1919 was buried Gwen Dale Graham, one of the best mothers and most heroic women. Modest, God fearing and Christ-like she put aside the burdens of life and lay down to pleasant dreams! Peace to her ashes.

MADERA YOUNG LADY DESERVES CREDIT

It has been said that Clearfield county fell down in her campaign for the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps during the year 1918 but there is one district that did not fall down and that is the Madera district whose quota was placed at the large sum (for a town of 1000 people) of thirty-three thousand dollars. H. B. Swoope was district chairman and Miss Marie Brown, local chairman, and in this campaign as in every other that helped to win the war, Madera did her part and sold her full quota. The greatest credit for this success belongs to the local chairman, Miss Marie Brown who by her individual efforts sold most of this large quota and just as truly as our boys "over there" went over the top, she went over the top in her thrift and War Savings stamps campaign and did her part toward establishing world freedom and justice in a way that deserves the greatest credit and public mention. Those who bought, share the credit but it was she who led the way.

The smallest coin ever issued was the "mite." They were current in Asia Minor and called "beggars" money being chiefly used for alms-giving.

This is sort of an old home week at the Progress office. For the first time in many weeks all are back on the job after a session with the "flu" and other ailments of the season.

If some of our friends had realized the sterling worth of Teddy in 1912 as they do today there are several things that would be different. It takes seven years to bring some fellows to their senses.

Since Attorney General Gregory has decided to get out from under the weight and responsibility of reconstruction one wonders whether any of the present administration are going to have the nerve to see through to a finish their pet theories.

Clemenceau is to head the peace conference and as its head will exert no little influence. To say the least, the league of nations idea will come in for a strenuous debate. Since it is a theory, let there be full and sincere discussion before it is accepted. Clemenceau is an old man, skilled in statesmanship and the wiles of national and international politics. His judgment is worthy of full consideration.

HENRY ALLEN BECOMES GOVERNOR OF KANSAS

(By United Press)
TOPEKA, KAN., Jan. 12.—Henry Allen, Wichita editor, was inaugurated governor of Kansas, succeeding Arthur Capper today. Capper was elected to the U. S. senate in the last election.

Allen is recently home from France where he worked for the Red Cross. Instead of the usual dress affair, a genuine Western "meeting of the folks" was held at the Auditorium and everyone spoke the well known "Kansas language". Allen told about his experiences in France.

Gov. Allen is looked upon as likely candidate for senator two years hence.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

GAY GARDEN FLOWERS.

"I am called the gay feather and the blazing star," said the Harris flower, "and all my blossom cousins are called the same."

"That may be perfectly true," commented the phlox which was very beautiful and pink, and before it had finished the Harris flower had interrupted. "What do you mean by saying that what I have just said may be perfectly true? You know quite well it is perfectly true, don't you? You should know that. If you don't know it, you are very stupid."

"I'm sorry," said the pink phlox, "I really hadn't finished talking. If you had given me a chance to finish I am sure you would have heard me say something quite truthful."

"That is all very well for you to say now, because, of course, I have warned you."

"Now it would appear that you don't believe me," said the pink phlox.

"I didn't exactly mean that."

"There! Don't accuse others too hastily," said the pink phlox. "You may find that you often say things that you don't mean at all the way creatures take them to mean. You are just ready to have a quarrel and I won't quarrel with you. But I will tell you a thing or two."

"All right," said the Harris flower, "I am sorry I was so impatient."

Now the pink phlox was a very happy, cheerful flower and this is what it said to the Harris:

"There are many creatures," said the phlox, "who don't care at all how unhappy they may make others. They may say things because they are angry and because they think they are the only ones who are right, and they may enjoy saying unkind things."

"They neither think nor do they care that what they say may hurt others for a long, long time. Now I know, Harris, that while you are full of spikes you're not really as dreadful as you started in to be today."

"You are very beautiful and you make me fuss about growing. Your beautiful, purple blossoms are lovely and they add a great deal to the beauty of a garden."

"To be sure it's a pity that your spikes are just where the blossoms are, for that is unlike the way most flowers grow that have spikes or bristles. But your lovely star-like blossoms are very pretty and gay and you make many people happy to look at you."

"But dear Harris flower, don't start quarreling. It's a very bad habit. I understand you and so I won't quarrel with you. But still it makes me feel unhappy when you won't let me finish a speech I am making and interrupt to tell me I'm not speaking the truth."

"What Wonderful Luck You Have With Your Flowers."

"I'm sorry, pretty pink phlox," said the Harris flower, "and I'm sure I'm thankful to you for your good advice. It's a bad habit for a flower to get into to try to quarrel with its neighbors."

"It's a bad habit for anyone or anything to get into," said the phlox. "I don't really think there is anything quite so mean as a creature or a person who will say things to make others unhappy and won't care in the least little bit whether they are made unhappy or not."

"Yes," said the Harris flower, "you are right. And as I must have my spikes because I am born and bred with spikes for generations back, at least I can be gay and happy and cheerful, can't I?"

"We all can," said the pink phlox.

"Yes, that's so," said the white phlox.

"It's quite, quite true," agreed the purple phlox.

"There's nothing like being cheerful," said the marigold, and the red geraniums from their bed, said.

"It's fine to be gay and bright and cheerful."

"We think so too," said the poppies.

"And so do we," said the beautiful blue maid of the mist flowers.

"We try our best," said the striped grass.

"And we will try even harder than ever from this day on," said the candy-tuft flowers.

So all the flowers did their best to look as gay and bright as possible and everyone who saw this garden said,

"What wonderful luck you have with your flowers!"

And the lady who loved the garden and who cared for it said, "I believe my flowers want to make everyone happy."

And the flowers nodded their heads, whispering, "That's right!"

An Hour a Day With Jesus

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—What! Could ye not watch with me one hour?—Matt. 26:40.

Never was the Master's rebuke to the disciples more pertinent than today. We are living at a rapid rate. Every one seems to be in a mad rush to get there, and multitudes of business men are consciously violating the speed laws of health and safety. It is becoming harder all the while to secure time for private or family worship, while meditation on the Word is, we fear, almost a lost art. Men and women too, are using up seven days' strength in six days' time, so that Sunday usually finds them completely exhausted.

Let me suggest as a remedy an hour a day with Jesus, emphasizing not so much the amount of time as the fact of a generous period set apart each day for fellowship with the living and written Word.

Our souls need it. How much they need it we shall never know until we adopt the habit. We need it both for our information and inspiration. We need to know God better that we may love him more. We need to know ourselves better that we may take and keep our proper attitude toward him. And when we know his will we need the constant and constraining influence of the Holy Spirit to incite us to do it.

A slumbering church needs it, for if it is ever awakened and set on fire for God it must be through the instrumentality of those who are already on fire, and whose earnest intercession gives God no rest until he establishes and makes Jerusalem a praise in the earth.

A perishing world needs it—for never will it realize that it is dead until it comes in contact with those who are alive in Christ Jesus. Formal preaching and feeble testimony will never disturb the sleep of the dead, but "the people that do know their God shall be strong, and shall do exploits." When people hear about the victorious life and see it in their midst they will realize their own need.

And Jesus craves it. We are not simply the servants of Jesus who go to him for orders, but he says, "I have called you friends," and "all things that I have heard of my Father, I have made known unto you." A business man may employ hundreds of women, and daily assign them their work and pay them their wages, but there is one woman whose relation to him is entirely different. He is not her employer but her husband. He did not select her for the work that she could do, but to be his wife and companion.

Even so the church is the bride of Christ, and far more than the service that we can render, he prizes our fellowship and love.

An hour a day with Jesus gives deep, abounding joy. "Did not our hearts burn within us as he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the Scriptures?"

It makes our testimony more effective. Some years ago I came in close touch with a group of young people. I soon saw that one of the number was far superior to all the rest in the weight of her testimony and in her knowledge of the Bible. Then I found the secret. She was giving an hour a day to the study of the Bible and prayer. Her life was beautiful and her influence unique, though her natural gifts were only ordinary. That hour a day with Jesus seemed to cast a halo over all that she said and did.

It gives greater power in prayer. In Acts 4:31 we read that when the apostles had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together; and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost. "And with great power gave they witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus; and great grace was upon them all."

And so we come back to our starting point, and leave with you the question, "Could we not manage our households and carry on our business and accomplish more study, and make more money if we would spend an hour a day with Jesus and the Bible?"

A little talk with Jesus, how it smooths the rugged road.

How it seems to help me onward, when I feel lingers in my load.

When my heart is crushed with sorrow, and my eyes with tears are dim,

There is naught can give me comfort like a little talk with him.

I cannot live without him, nor would I if I could.

He is my daily portion, my medicine and food.

He's altogether lovely, none with him can compare.

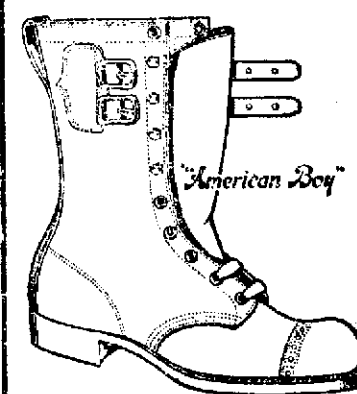

The chief among ten thousand, the fairest of the fair.

HELPS AGNEW'S WIFE IN TRYING PERIOD

Charles Agnew, 5442 Ella street, Philadelphia, in describing the improvement in his wife's condition says: "She suffered from nervous indigestion a rundown system with twinges of rheumatism in her joints. She was not very ill at any time but just had the nagging gastritis and jumpier nerves. She bought Tanlac because a friend and her daughter recommended it. By use of Tanlac she is doing better than for a long time. Tanlac has helped her through a trying period."

The genuine Tanlac which bears the name J. I. Gore Co., on outside carton, is now sold here by Stewart Drug Co., Woodward & McPherson and other leading druggists. Tanlac, the celebrated vegetable tonic, stomachic and health builder, is also sold in neighboring cities and towns. Ask for it.

URGENT NEED FOR TEACHERS

Shortage Caused by the War Has Reached Proportions That Are Causing Alarm.

One of the most acute shortages caused by the war is that relating to the pedagogical fraternity. Fifty thousand teachers' places are vacant, and 120,000 persons are teaching this year who have never before taught a class. Several thousand schools have actually closed or have remained unopened because it was impossible for the local trustees to find teachers for them.

The lowered standards in many places and the total lack of instruction in others mean a loss to the children of the nation, which cannot be replaced. The shortage of teachers affects nearly every state in the Union. Many urgent requests have been made for the assistance of the United States bureau of education, for it is clearly impossible for some of the states to man their schools with the teachers available in their own borders. Practical and effective response is promised by the bureau.

By direction of the president and Secretary Lane, the commissioner of education has organized a new division in his office to assist local officers in finding teachers to meet this emergency. An appeal has been issued to all who are qualified and able to teach, urging them to signify their willingness to do so by registering with the new school board service division of the bureau of education in Washington. Registrants will be put in touch with schools which are seeking teachers, with the expectation of employment in the regular way. No charge whatever will be made either to the registrants or to the schools for the service.

CHILDREN OF WORKERS GO TO BETTER SCHOOLS.

The increase of workmen's wages is testing the accommodation of the better-class schools throughout the British Isles. People who were unable to pay additional fees for their children's education are now sending them to private kindergartens and higher-grade institutions.

In London the secondary schools are full. In Liverpool the number of enrollments of new pupils in one group of secondary schools has increased more than 20 per cent. In Lancashire generally there is a steady transfer of pupils from the elementary to the secondary schools.

British Demobilization.

The British system of government free employment offices, which, like the United States employment service, has been greatly developed and expanded during the war, as the national industrial mobilization machinery will be the chief instrument through which the British government will demobilize its military forces and the great army of civilian war workers when the war is over.

The government has just created a civil department of demobilization and resettlement under a controller general, who is responsible to the minister of labor. Sir Stephenson Kent is the controller general. The department will have in charge the replacement program, using the staff and machinery of the employment department of the labor ministry, which includes the administration of the employment exchanges and unemployment insurance.

So vast is the work of the British Graves Registration Commission, which locates and marks the last resting-place of the British soldiers who fell in France, that in an average week the commission staff has had to deal with five thousand letters of inquiry and thanks; and at times the number has been little short of ten thousand.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Charles Sweeney, one of the office force at Bickford works who has been confined to his home by illness, expects to be out in a few days and resume his duties as draughtsman at the yard.

Mrs. William Hipps left on Friday for Johnstown where she will visit for several weeks with her daughter.

Harvey Hauck who recently sold his pool room to Fred McKenzie has rented a room in the Owens block, State street, and has put in a complete bowling outfit, where the young fellow can now take exercise and raise their muscles to the boxing point. Teams will be organized and contests for large scores will be on nightly. Mr. Kelly will also contact his bowling alley in connection with his pool room.

The funeral of young Tennon was held from his late home at Bridgeport on Saturday. This home is a badly afflicted one. The aged mother is lying at almost death's door with pneumonia and both Charles Tennon and his wife are down and dangerously ill with influenza and indications of pneumonia. A state nurse has been secured and will be on duty today. Truly this family has been one that has been sorely afflicted within the past two years. Kind neighbors are doing all within their power to assist them and it is to be hoped that all now ill will recover from their sickness.

Mrs. Charles Caldwell is lying at her home in Pike township and within a few miles of this borough, very ill. Her sickness in the beginning was influenza but finally terminated in a serious case of pneumonia. Her physician has small hope of her recovery, unless some radical change takes place which will turn the tide for the betterment of her condition.

The report that another case of diphtheria had made its appearance in this borough seems to be erroneous and as the health officer, Mr. Weaver has posted no card on the house, leads one to believe that there is no case of that disease in that home. The young man who had the disease and reported in the Curwensville letter several days ago, is able to be about and mingle with his companions once again.

Mrs. Ernest Veal, residing on the Grampian road who has had a serious illness with the influenza, we are pleased to state is getting along nicely and will soon be able to be about once again.

Mrs. Frank Weaver who has been quite seriously ill for more than a week, with a general nervous breakdown, is reported by her physician as gaining in health rapidly and will soon be able to assume the government of her household affairs within the next few days. Her illness came about from trying to assist others in their struggle through illness and influenza affliction.

or in other words a check put on the disease spreading any further. "Prayers of Christian people are mighty" and that may be one reason for the elimination of the disease that has struck so religiously and long in this community. This does not mean that the disease has been wiped out entirely, for according to medical decision, we can expect the disease to remain with us, more or less, all thru the winter months, and that every now and then they will be called upon to give medical assistance for cases of influenza and pneumonia. We are living in the hope, however, that from now on there will be few cases to record.

Frank Thompson, "shoemaker doc", who has been fighting a most obstinate and dangerous case of the influenza for three weeks past, unless some unforeseen complications set in, will be able to be about and among his friends again within the next ten days.

Harry Robinson has taken over the entire management of the Prosperity store in the Graff block. He will be assisted in his work by his daughter, who was formerly with the A. & P. store.

At a meeting of the teen-age department of the M. E. Sunday school the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

President, Russell Brown
Vice President, Dorothy Edmiston
Secretary, Mable Norris
Asst. Secretary, Julia Powell
Treasurer, Roberta McDonald
Asst. Treas., Alice Moose.

At a recent meeting the following officers were installed for Curwensville lodge No. 486, Knights of Pythias, to serve for a six months term. Chancellor Commander, Rush Decker.

V. C. Samuel Martin
M. of A. George Bressler
M. of W. Paul Brown
Prelate, Harry Shirk
I. G. Albie Hummel
O. G. James Wingert.

District Deputy Brown, of Clearfield, did the work, assisted by members of 486. During the last year this lodge lost three members by death. A large number of the membership were ill during the epidemic and were well taken care of and assisted in every way to make them comfortable.

Announcement was made here Saturday evening of the death of Paul J. Elder, a son of Mrs. Alice Elder, which occurred at Renovo, Saturday afternoon, influenza and pneumonia being the direct cause of demise. He was aged about 28 years, and is survived by his widow and one child, together with his mother, three sisters and two brothers. His remains will be brought to Curwensville this evening and the funeral will be held from the Elder home on Tuesday afternoon. Prior to his death he was employed at the car shops in Renovo. He was a resident of Curwensville prior to his removing to Renovo.

Mrs. David R. Fleming died at her home on Saturday after an illness covering a period of several years. The family has resided in this town a good many years, the husband, D. R. Fleming conducting a cigar factory here. The family came here from Huntingdon county. She is survived by her husband and one son. Obituary and funeral notice later.

Yesterday was one of those beautiful wintry days that brought out whole families for a walk and good fresh air, although the slippery condition of the sidewalks made one very careful how one stepped.

The funeral of Mrs. Holt was held from the home of her mother, Mrs. Allen Bloom, on Chestnut ridge yesterday afternoon and was quite well attended by relatives and friends of the deceased.

Colonel Ganoe, accompanied by his wife and children, arrived in town Thursday evening and are quartered in the home of Mrs. Ganoe's father, C. S. Russell, on North State street. They expect to remain for about ten days and then return to West Point.

At a meeting of the Curwensville Business Men's association held one evening last week the following officers were elected for the annual term:

President, J. L. Curtis
Vice-president, W. G. Lape
Secretary and Treasurer, John B. Brown
Board of Directors, George L. Wilkinson, A. Z. Wolf, J. T. Fox, C. S. Russell, A. McNaul.

It was decided to make the annual dues $1.00 per year, payable in January and July. Addresses were made by several of the members which took the rough edge off and made every one present feel good and more determined to follow out the rules of the association more closely and work together in harmony, so that there might be no friction among the members during the year 1919.

At a regular meeting Saturday evening of Bethesda lodge No. 831 a class of three initiates had the third degree conferred on them, making them full members and giving them all the rights and privileges of the lodge. The occasion was enhanced by several short, snappy addresses by the elder members.

The following election of officers of Rescue Hose and Ladder company held last Monday was handed to us for publication the fore part of the week, but was mislaid, hence the lateness of publication:

President, Verne Bloom
Vice-president, J. W. Murphy
Secretary, J. C. Gatus
Asst. secretary, Peter O'Laughlin
Treasurer, W. A. Hipps
Chief G. L. Benner
Chief and foreman, G. L. Benner
First Asst, H. J. Kettleberger
Second Asst, W. A. Hipps.
Trustees, Earl McFadden, C. M. Smith and H. J. Kettleberger

Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Norris now occupy their new home on Thompson street, having moved and taken formal possession on Thursday.

Notices have been published that farmers in this section who will want to use nitrate on their land this spring as a fertilizer can procure the same by applying to Anthony Hile at the Curwensville bank, who is authorized to act as agent and supply their wants along this line.

The Herald gives out the information that the reason that borough council did not hold its usual monthly meeting last Monday evening was because two members of that body were ill. Messrs. J. P. Ryan, president of that body and J. M. McKinley. By the time for the next meeting rolls around it is to be hoped that every member of that body will be able to be on hand.

Owing to so much illness in the town which interfered in the regular Christmas Red Cross roll call, Mrs. Karstetter states that those who have not yet enrolled may do so up until the end of January and become members of the Christmas roll call.

A. G. Bonsall who operates a studio here, but lives at Grampian, notified us yesterday that he and his entire family are down with the influenza, hence his gallery here would be closed until such a time that he was able to come down and resume business.

Mrs. Edna Holt wife of Edgar Holt, died at the home of her mother Mrs. Mary Bloom, on the Chestnut Ridge road last Thursday, after an illness covering a period of several years. Mrs. Holt was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bloom and was twice married, leaving three children by her first husband and two by the second. She came here from her home in St. Louis about a year ago and resided a part of that time with Mrs. Z. L. Hartshorn, her mother in law.

Earnest Beers, a soldier who was training in a camp near Chicago, died one week ago today. His body was brought to his home and buried in the cemetery at Grampian. He was aged 24 years, 7 months and six days. The cause of his demise we did not learn.

Angelo Tennon died at the home of his brother in Bridgeport on Thursday morning aged about 20 years. The cause of his death was influenza. He was unmarried.

Ernest Wise, a soldier of Camp Lee, is home on furlough visiting his wife and parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Al McNaul left this week for St. Louis where they will spend several weeks.

Rev. George W. Leidy, who at one time was pastor of the Methodist church here for several years, died in Williamport on Wednesday, aged 78 years. Many Curwensville people will recall him when they read this.

PIMPPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel, there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "pimp" from taking a bad breath, a dull, heavy, no good feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimples.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

A Store Wide Clearance At Prices In Many Cases Less Than Prevailing Costs

This is a Clearance Sale of more than usual importance. So many elements enter into the reasons for this clearance, aside from the fact that it is our usual clearance period, that any of them in itself would be sufficient to warrant extraordinary claims for the values offered.

But the time has come for action rather than words. Action on our part is arranging prices so as to bring costs down to a point where you will be bound to take action and make liberal purchases for immediate and future needs.

And remember this is a store-wide clearance. Every stock in the store contributes its quota of under-priced items.

Only a limited number of the reduced costs are listed here.
